

Luxurious Latte

Using a consistent colour throughout a property adds a greater feeling of space and creates seamless continuity

Loraine Chassels, XS Interiors/EX Showhouse Furniture

Whipped cream, latte mousse and vanilla ice are words that sound more in keeping with a patisserie than an interior, but in the context of colour they are stunning tones of creams that whilst understated, speak volumes of class. Adhering strictly to this calm colour way, accent red alone was used to break the palette like a cherry on the cake.

XS Interiors of Bearsden provided all the furniture and accessories for this beautiful duplex show apartment in Athole Mansions in Glasgow's West End and styled it to perfection. 'Using a consistent colour throughout the property adds a greater feeling of space and creates seamless continuity', commented

Loraine Chassels of XS Interiors. 'The property had such beautiful features we did not want the furniture or the colour scheme to overtake the rooms and we wanted to create a feeling of serene spaciousness.' With five rooms to furnish Loraine focused on using differing tones on a theme, a variety of textures and fabrics, and layer upon layer created a very calm and relaxed environment. The use of neutrals allows for future changes to be made very easily in a home by simply changing the accent colour. Aubergine or aqua could just as easily been used here in place of red.
